

MA Television Fiction Writing

Raw Talent, New Voices

This is an exciting new partnership between the media industry and education that is ready to produce the next generation of market ready script writers. It focuses solely on writing for the growing television sector which is a key element of the Scottish, UK and global economies. If you want to develop your creative writing skills for television, please contact us for further details matv@gcal.ac.uk or visit the website www.tvfictionwriting.com

A variety of Industry Sponsorships is also available.